O R D E R

There is no representation on behalf of the petitioner.

2. The question raised by the petitioner regarding the property covered by Annexure-F is part of Annexures-A, B and C which according to the petitioner is being held by her after the death of her husband. Petitioner alleges that these properties Annexures-A, B and C were in the possession of her husband long since and the present transfer in favour of respondent 4 to 6 is illegal. The question involved involves right over the property which can be best gone into in an appropriate civil proceedings. Reserving the liberty to the petitioner to approach the Civil Court and work out the remedy, this writ petition is disposed of. Till the petitioner approaches the civil court, the status quo as on today shall continue. Petitioner is granted three months time to approach the Civil Court for appropriate remedy and the interim order will be in force for the said period.

Writ petition is disposed of.
